STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The Industrial Employment (Standing Orders) Act. 1946. provides that employers in industrial establishments should define with sufficient precision the conditions of employment under them and to make the said conditions known to the workmen employed by them.

The Act applies to every industrial establishment wherein 100 or more workmen are employed or were employed on any day of the preceding 12 months.

There are a large number of industrial establishments which employ 50 or more workers but less than 100, where it is felt necessary that the conditions of employment should be specifically laid down so that the incidence of industrial disputes and unrest be minimised.
